FUND COMMENTARY ~ DECEMBER 2025

The Flagship BCI Worldwide Flexible Fund of Funds returned -1.0% in ZAR – notwithstanding many global markets delivering positive returns in December, capping off a strong year for equities around the globe. The fund's ZAR performance was sharply impacted by rand vs USD strength, with the ZAR stronger by 3.2% in December, and a meaningful 12.1% over the year.

The biggest contributor for the month was the Artisan Global Value Fund, while the Artisan Global Discovery Fund and the New Capital US Small Cap fund were both detractors. As required by legislation, we confirm that the fund has adhered to its policy objective and strategy.

MARKET COMMENTARY

Equity markets around the world delivered varying performance for the last month of the year. Despite the slightly subdued numbers for December, it was still another very strong year for markets, with most notching double-digit gains. In the US, the S&P was flat for the month, while the Nasdaq composite declined by 0.5%. For 2025, however, they gained 17.9% and 21.2% respectively. This now marks 3 years of back-to-back double-digit gains for the S&P. London's FTSE 100 was slightly stronger, gaining 2.3% for the month to close 25.8% higher in 2025. European markets also ended in the green, gaining 2.2% for the month and 22% for the year. In the East, the Nikkei gained 0.3% for the month, and an impressive 28.6% for the year. Hong Kong's Hang Seng closed December slightly lower, but delivered an incredible 32.5% for the year. It is worth noting that the US Dollar depreciated by more than 10% versus the Pound and Euro during the year, greatly increasing those index returns when measured in USD.

This strong performance continues, especially in the US, despite lingering concerns around overall valuation levels, with investors seemingly emboldened by the increasing number of upward earnings revisions for S&P constituents. Job and inflation data were both sufficiently subdued for the Federal Reserve to deliver another 0.25% rate cut in December, leading to further cheer from markets. This was the 3rd straight cut since September, but the Fed now expects only 1 cut in 2026, citing greater uncertainty looking forward. The US unemployment rate, which at 4.6% hit its highest level in more than 4 years, and the lower than expected inflation rate, does provide more room for potential cuts.

On the commodity front, the oil price was weaker, declining by 3.7% during the month, and by 18.5% during the year. This is in stark contrast to gold and silver, up 1.9% and 26.8% respectively during the month, and both having their strongest year since 1979 – as gold rallied more than 60% and silver more than 140%.

Any non-economic news in December was overshadowed by what happened in early January, as the US launched an unprecedented operation in Venezuela, arresting and 'deporting' its longtime strongman leader, Nicolas Maduro. This was followed by threats made against fellow NATO member Denmark suggesting a possible US takeover of Greenland, in a spectacular breakdown of international diplomacy. In the East, Japan is embarking on its biggest military buildup in at least four decades as relations with China deteriorate and, in Europe, Baltic nations are fortifying their borders against Russian threats and preparing for potential conflict. Lastly, Iran is seeing a wave of unprecedented protests against the Islamic regime, in what is being touted as a potential generational secular shift in the Middle East.

The local JSE All Share had another strong month, gaining 4.6%, putting its annual gain for 2025 at 42.5%. Given the ZAR strength over the last year, these returns are even stronger in USD, with the annual return coming in at an incredible 62.5%. On the back of several good-news headlines, SA business confidence surged to its highest levels since 2011. Unfortunately our politicians remain intent on shooting SA in the foot, as our hosting of a BRICS group military exercise including warships from China, Russia and Iran, will no doubt draw the ire of Washington.

Investment Policy

The Flagship BCI Worldwide Flexible Fund of Funds is a Worldwide-Asset Allocation portfolio in the Flexible Portfolio Sector. The primary objective of the portfolio is to offer medium to long-term capital growth. The portfolio will invest in a range of participatory interests in equity, bond, money or property markets, in portfolios of collective investment schemes.

In order to achieve its objective, the investments normally to be included in the Flagship BCI Worldwide Flexible Fund of Funds will, apart from assets in liquid form, consist of participatory interests of portfolios of collective investment schemes or other similar schemes, in equity, bond, money or property markets, registered in the Republic of South Africa, or of portfolios of collective investment schemes or other similar schemes operated in territories with a regulatory environment which is to the satisfaction of the Manager and the Trustee, and comply with the requirements of the Act and any regulations thereto.

TER and Transaction Costs

From 1 October 2024 to 30 September 2025 2.41% of the value of the fund was incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the fund. 0.11% of the value of the fund was incurred as costs relating to the buying and selling of the assets underlying the fund. Therefore, 2.52% of the value of the fund was incurred as costs relating to the investment of the fund. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER's. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. A fund of funds is a portfolio that invests in portfolios of collective investment schemes that levy their own charges, which could result in a higher fee structure.

Fund Risk Profile

- The investment philosophy is medium to long term in nature but with a conservative bias. The use of several managers diversifies the single-manager and single-style risk associated with investing through one asset manager only. Asset allocation is adjusted according to changes in market conditions..

- Shares are potentially volatile investments and there is a risk of capital loss over the short term.
- Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.
- Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down.
